Directions

- From Central Waikiki (Driving)

Head north (inland, or mauka) to Ala Wai Boulevard, a one-way street that runs northwest along the Ala Wai Canal. Stay in the left lane. After Pau Street, turn left on Niu Street. Niu Street, one block long, technically ends at the next intersection with Kalakaua Avenue, but you will want to go straight across onto Ala Moana Boulevard. You will see Ft. DeRussy on your left. Get into the left lane, and at the next light, turn left onto Kalia Road. You will pass the Hilton Hawaiian Village, then the Hale Koa Hotel. The road narrows and winds gently. After about 100 yards, you should see Battery Randolph on your right (look for the U.S. Army Museum's tanks and cannons in front of the building). Enter Battery Randolph from the Ewa or west entrance. The Pacific Regional Visitor Center is located on the 2nd floor.

- From Central Waikiki (Walking)

Get onto Kalakaua Avenue, the main street in Waikiki, and start walking northwest (against traffic). Turn left at Saratoga Road (note that streets in Hawai'i often change names as they cross each other — if you hit Kalaimoku Street you've gone too far). You should now be heading southwest (toward the ocean or makai). When Saratoga Road ends, turn right on Kalia Road. Look for the U.S. Army Museum's tanks and cannons in front of the building) right there, near the intersection. Enter Battery Randolph from the Ewa or west entrance. The Pacific Regional Visitor Center is located on the 2nd floor.

- From West/Central O`ahu

Get onto H-1 East. After you pass the Isenberg Street and University Avenue exits, get off at the King Street exit (Exit 25A). Go straight at the first light, passing the Foodland supermarket (it will be on your right), and turn right onto Kapahulu Avenue (the second light, which is under the freeway). Follow Kapahulu Avenue all the way down (south, toward the ocean, or makai, about a mile and a half), staying in the right lane. Watch for Herbert and Kainana Streets on your left, then a water pumping station and the Waikiki Library on your right. Turn right onto Ala Wai Boulevard. (A right-turn lane will begin in front of the library, which will take you to the right of a large plant-and-waterfall traffic island.) From here, follow the directions for "From Central Waikiki (Driving)" above.

- From East O`ahu
